

CSA NSW April webinar: Creating Colour 1: Paint Making with Ulysses Jackson (Golden Artist Colors Inc., USA), Tuesday April 25 2023, 11:00 AM - 12:30 PM AEST

This is the first of our new series of educational webinars, Creating Colour, intended for ambitious beginner painters through to professional artists who want a better understanding of the technical properties of their media, including both traditional and digital media. This first webinar will provide a general introduction to the pigments and binders used in paint making across different categories of paint.

"Having a basic understanding of the ingredients and processes required to make paint can offer a feeling of greater connection to one's materials. This is similar to knowing the basic parts of a car engine, while you may not do your own repair work, it removes the black box mystery. So, while we do not expect people to make their own paint we do hope to build a sense of understanding of what is in the tube. I am very passionate about coatings (paint) technology and desire to share this knowledge with you, and there is no need to know any chemistry to follow along". - Ulysses Jackson

Ulysses Jackson is a formulator with over 18 years coating industry experience, and recipient of a US Patent for the development of QoR® Watercolor. He is involved in a wide range of functions at Golden Artist Colors such as new product development, product Improvement and technical support. As a scientist and a professional artist, Ulysses offers unique insights into Custom Product Development for individual artists, conservators and museums. When Ulysses is not in the Lab researching coatings for Golden, he is maintaining an active studio practice furthering his passion for artist materials using Golden products. Favourite Colour: Pyrrole Orange

For more information and to register go to <https://coloursociety.org.au/event-5235249>. This webinar is free but registration by April 23 is essential and limited to 100 participants. Registrants will receive an email containing the Zoom link shortly before the webinar. If you are a non-member unable to attend live but would like temporary access to a recording of this webinar, please do not register but send a request for access to csa.nsw.chair@gmail.com by April 23. (CSA members have permanent access to the recordings of all our webinars).

The Colour Society of Australia (estd 1986) is the Australian member body of the International Colour Association (AIC), and holds events and conferences throughout Australia aimed at furthering education in all aspects of colour. For more information, please see our Facebook or Instagram pages or our website at <http://www.coloursociety.org.au/>.